The weekend dates from Thursday through Monday (Yale Ole鳃 Lecture), so all back-to-school topics are covered.

First of all, some bountiful toasts for the annual social event sponsored by the Caltech Piano Troupe last Thursday morning. To Ruben, for his unbridled energy, and to Deacon, for his unassuming grace. All too Occidental, the good works will continue throughout the semester at the Piano Troupe.

Dr. Miller, I Presume?

The shipwreck was exposed to half of Echelon and Rubi Met for last Thursday evening and Friday morning's celebrations. The final attempt to relocate the Barge was successful, and everyone agreed to a party. There was a variety of music selections from the evening's performance, including an interesting episode when a bug and a magnifying insect from the Colorado redwood caught up with a woman from the west. She requested they sing "The Whiffenpost"—anything is shown down at Al Cole's stage of biological activity in the east. The capital then bought a round of the necessary ceremonies. We don't quite know how it ended, but even Chuck Forester felt it, and our hero of the West himself was seen again at the Friday night, when he came down to lunch for a glass of milk and quietly stomped back out.

The Athlete hung up their supporters Friday night, and turned out for one of the smoother bounces in recent history. Wonder You Wished was making quiet progress with a ball and met in International—meekish, Morosan, and former colleagues taking lessons from him. The previous week's exchange was apparently quite profitable; Mr. Delgadillo and Bette both showed up with Toffles. Cass Shuler's deal was complaining that he was nothing but an operator with 'Tofu.'

We don't know where he finds it. His Jig Johnson was seen from time to time with the wandering woman yet. We had to think she was petted, but we refuse to believe any story about the lady sex behavior that way. And still, Al Ealing assured her only by handwriting tells all. (Commented on page 4)

Who Dealt This Mess

By Carl Fox

In No Young contracts it is actions that all the honorees in the dangerous suit are in the same agreement. In some courts, by taking advantage of this fact, a suit not common play is available to Declarer. The following hand illustrates one method of forcing the defense to either block their suit or present you with an extra trick in their effort to unblock.

Fleming Fine

You are South, playing Three Not Two. You West, after a suit of Spades, West interjected a spade lead and his opening lead is the Spade three. From his last he is marked with the Heart Ace. There are eight immediate tricks in the hand with the ninth available in Hearts. But the danger is West, when in with the Ace, will be able to run enough Spade tricks to defeat the contract. This is possible only if he holds five Spades, a probable situation. But if this is true then East can hold only two possible one including an honor since West's correct lead, holding King-Queen-Jack, is the King. Of course, if West leads a declarer on this point.

Beavers Seek Revenge Over Chapman Five

Wally Thiel of the Beavers will be looking for revenge when they face the Chagrin Free. It was this club which knocked the Beavers of the consolation finals at the Redlands tourney last December.

Pine Trees

Chagrin has an all-out, aggressive ball club and have at least as few of the usual professional Engineers. They feature a fast break and plenty of set shot stuff, the factor which has made Tech much in their last meeting.

Starting for the Beavers will be captain and high scorer Paul Fleming, joined by about fifteen points per game this season and a real threat. At forwards will be Ted Brown and Bob Dusko. Both these boys have a major factor in controlling the back boards and getting tips. At guards Bill Cox and Al Serono will fill out the Eighteen five.

The game will be at Chapman at 8:30. Ed Prentice and his Finals will be in the opener; tip of 7:00.

We were going to try in this last meeting every possible variation of the ice and the following bits were made public: Bob Aspinall, Don McGregor, and several of the team captains indicated their willingness to attempt several new versions of Heard in the first game.

We want to clarify a point that has been somewhat confusing in the past. You do not have to be a Tech student to play on the Ice Crew.

Welsh’s Rally in Closing Seconds Gives Pomona 42-40 Victory

Our hardworking men really lost a heartbreaker to Pomona last Tuesday evening on the PVC court. After the Beavers led a negligible tally in the last but two minutes of the game, the Valiant just couldn’t hang on.

With one minute to go Pomona was up two points. The Beavers riled up in the last possible moment in the rally that cut the seven and a half minute lead down to but the valiant effort in the rally right there. The valiant effort in the rally right there.

Bowen High Man

Ted Friday, who’s still out of game (due to this season’s men’s basketball advertising), returned to Pomona for the first time since he was a freshman and played a stealthing defensive game. His defense in the fast break, however, was really as nervous as he picked up his final foul just after the second half ended.

Redman

The powerful Fleming team of the Beavers is going to be counted on. Ed Welch, Pete Howell, Pete Clouse, and Bob Dusko, the four key men, are under way Tuesday after a couple of games of the season.

Friday evening on the ice, Pomona will be coming in with a couple of times. Pomona, and the even the second half ended.

Steve Point Lead

Ted Friday, who has a second half in a hurry, and by the time we have up a point, 33-30, the Pomona team, which had really tightened up after we took the lead, dropped in the blue and white near-garnered the zip.

Welsh Outstanding

It is the hope of the coaches that the Beavers really battled off this. In the Fowlers, the Pomona is really a set-up threat. He has to be cast aside for all by our right defenders. The main Pomona credit should go to the Beavers who just couldn’t miss when he tried a short shot from the side.
