Tech YMCA kicks off 1956
Blitzkrieg fund push Monday
by Brad Afton

Next Monday night, November 12, the Caltech YMCA will begin its annual attack on student finances. Led by Y treasurer John Lurie, intent solicitors will be seen on every Caltech student, grade and undergrad, in a determined effort to collect a total of $1600. Each student house will have a collection supervisor, who will appoint individual alley solicitors--who will then be free to go on their rounds and go through by each floor at least once.

The money collected in this drive will go to the Y's famous collection of plans and programs. Leaders of America, which annually brings world renowned personalities to the Caltech campus, is the prime beneficiary of these funds. Visitors have included Ralph Bunche and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. This year's guests will be Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and the Vice-president of India, Dr. Srinivasa Radhakrishnan. Other Y sponsored projects include the luncheon, the Y's evening program, and the typewriter, book, and loan services. Freshmen are reminded that it was the Y which brought them the unlimited social opportunities of the Frosh Tea.

The YMCA still does not believe that its program has attained maximum usefulness to the student body. Today a poll will be conducted in the student houses to determine which plans have been the most successful in the past and should be emphasized in the future. Off campus meetings will be polled through the mail.

Everyone benefited, either directly or indirectly, from our Caltechers. The results of this drive will be of help support it.

CCF fellows to hear talk

Ed Pentecost, a Christian worker from Mexico, will speak on Christianity among Latin American university students at a special Caltech Christians-Fellowship meeting at 8:00 p.m. this Saturday night in Dabney Hall lounge.

Dr. Pentecost, once an American, became a Mexican citizen in order to associate more freely with students in that country.

Mr. Pentecost works in connection with organizations similar to the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship in this country, of which the CCF is a chapter.

The meeting this Saturday will be attended by IVCF groups from other colleges in the Southland area.

Morton, Lango excel at debate

The team of John Lango and Tom Morton went all the way to win all four of the debates in which they took part last Friday and Saturday. The debates were won in a successful tournament held at Los Angeles City College. Also debating were the teams of Ken Schatz and Allan Forush, Rube Moulton and Mike Fletcher, and Tom Gunckel and Jon Wright.

A novice debate tournament will be held next November 17. Anyone who has not previously participated in an intercollegiate tournament is eligible. Experience is not necessary. Those interested should get in touch with Dr. Dwight Thomas, 308 Dabney, or Ken Scholts in Blacker.

Caltech shares $1,800,000
AUF grant

Through its membership in the American Universities Field Staff Inc., the Caltech Student Body shared in the benefits of a Ford Foundation grant of $1,800,000. Each of the ten educational institutions that control and help to support the activities of the AUFPS, a non-profit organization that was established in 1951 by a group of college presidents who wish to breathe life into the study of foreign religions and cultures. The new Ford grant augurs continuation of the AUFPS program.

As a member of an organization that provides a career service for students of foreign languages, Caltech brings to its students and faculty an expanding opportunities in foreign languages. The men are directed by a faculty committee under the chairmanship of Professor Rodman Paul.

Each year four AUFPS men visit the campus to lecture classes, lead discussion groups, and sit in on faculty roundtables on foreign affairs.

The AUFPS men who will visit Pasadena this year recently returned from long stays in Africa, the Philippines, and Japan. Activities of the men are directed by a faculty committee under the chairmanship of Professor Rodman Paul.

Jean Fairfax
on "Racial Conflict and Cooperation in Africa" in the Y lounge at 7:30. Students from the Whitter YM-YSCC will attend along with Caltech men.

A graduate of Columbia University, now counselor and Dean of Women at Kentucky State College and Tuskegee Institute, Miss Fairfax will lead an informal discussion at 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday in the lounge. This coffee-hour talk is open to all students and faculty members.

Frosh lunch clubs elect new officers

TREMENDOUS BIG RALLY Van Kirk and Cribbs have planned on Oxidize Occidental rally in the gym tonight to "fire it up" for the G-Day game.

ASCIT CABBAGE N Siegel sadly explained that last fiscal year under the guidance of former treasurer John Young ASCIT went in the hole for $300. Most of this was a result of the special awards to our championship swimming and baseball teams. He also suggested that the ASCIT fiscal year be changed from ending at the close of the summer to ending at the close of second term so the treasurer could take office right after he was elected. He would also simplify auditing the books of the student publications because the business managers would still be in school. He will see if the Institute agrees.

GIVE BLOOD! According to Moulton the Blood Mobile will definitely be here on next Thursday, November 15.

MR. ROBERTS Van Kirk expects the Caltech Drama Club to give a play reading of Mr. Roberts during assembly period on Thursday, November 20.

INTERHOUSE SING Bill Dietrich has tentatively scheduled the Interhouse Sing for Monday, February 18. Practice will start two weeks earlier at mid-terms. Ricketts will not win this year.

Adding a bit of warmth and personality to the somewhat straightened atmosphere of the Graduate Office is Pauline Jones, a native of Denver. Coldwell, began work at Caltech last September after moving to California with her husband (husband, that is) in June.

Looking thoroughly happy, Pauline told us that she met her husband when they were both attending Colorado A. M. and that they were married in 1944. Nowadays both are at Caltech but her husband is engaged in more academic pursuits, he is a graduate student in inorganic engineering.

Pauline's interests and hobbies run to the domestic, with a special interest in things like sewing and cooking. When asked the Late comeback nets Tech 21-20 win over Cal Poly

Caltech's varsity gridiron spotted the Cal Poly Broncos a two-touchdown edge at halftime and won Saturday at Puddock Field. The Broncos a 21-13 third quarter lead after trailing 130 at the half. Caltech began the game as though the Beavers meant to hand-decimate the Bronco. Cal Poly on a flier, with Dick Van Kirk and Charley Malone fumbling a handing on the first play from scrimmage, the Broncos recovering on Caltech's 26 yard line. Cal Poly scored to their first score rapidly, with quarterback Dick Mamer sneaking over from the one yardline.

Both teams' offenses sputtered throughout the rest of the first quarter, and most of the second. With less than a minute left in the half Mamer hit halfback Red Krehbiel pacing the attack, with Charley Malone fumbling a handing on the Bronco 48 yard line. The Broncos marched to their first score of the game, Dick Marner sneaking over from the one yardline.

Caltech's first-down charges took command of the game in the third quarter, with Don Stockinger recovering Malone's kickoff on the Bronco 49 yard line. The Beavers marched to their first score with Stockinger and Ed Krehbiel pacing the attack. Krehbiel splitting over from the three yardline Malone kicked the first of three extra points in the quarter.

After the ensuing kickoff, Cal Poly was unable to move the ball and was forced to punt. Caltech scored again after grinding out the necessary yardage. The Beavers scored on a 20 yard reverse, running with Mike Stockinger into the end zone.

The rest of the game was spent in futile efforts by Cal Poly to score again, but the Beavers defenses were able to contain the Bronco attack. With less than a minute left Caltech took possession of the ball.

Beavers vs Occidental for cellar in tossup game

Caltech's annual "big game" with Occidental looms as a toss-up for the first time in several years, as the Beavers travel to Eagle Rock to meet the Tigers in an 800-clash. Both squads are winless in conference play, and each holds two non-conference wins.

On the basis of comparative scores against conference opponents, Tech has won two of the five meetings between the teams, and Caltech has walked away with the others. The Beavers have not lost a game on the road in conference play, while Occidental has lost its two conference contests.

The game figures to be a clash of ground vs. air power. Tiger Jack Kemp, with 47 completions in 144 attempts, is the nation's leading small-college passer, and he has an able receiver in Jim More, a little all-coast selection at end last season. Caltech has relied mainly on its ground game to date this season, grinding out over 200 yards a game. In Ed Krefting, Don Stocking, and Charley Malone the Beavers have three of the best running backs in the conference.

The Beavers' attack will not be one-sided, either. Mike Quint, Curt Pott, and Walt Williamson provide constant breakdown threats for the Tigers, and fullbacks Gary Jeffries and Don Hotchkin, erstwhile guards, are excellent at bucking the center of the line.

Playing in their final conference game for Caltech will be seniors Ed Nelson, Bill Moore, Larry Whitlow, Jim Snyder, Joe Linglerfell, Charley Malone, and Marty Tangora.

Caltech water polo team tops Diablos; Rees leads scoring

Caltech's water polo team evened up its conference record last Friday afternoon to two won and two lost by outwinning L. A. State, 72. A good zone defense helped the Diablos hold the score down as the Beaver water team circled around L. A. State.

At the start it looked like a repeat of the Tech as goalie, Don Whitberg, lost a shot shilp by him and Caltech faced a seemingly impereable zone defense. Late in the first quarter Norm Velten proved he could shoot by taking a pass to Clarke Rees and firing at him to the right corner from ten yards out. Velten was one of the races. Rees hit three, Keith Martin one, Vance Taylor one, and Vellely scored two. The other State goal was scored on a drive-in past the second string to give the final of seven in a game played Wednesday, October 30. Fullerton JC smashed the second and third string 21-1 in the first half of a non-conference game. The Tech goal came as a very green Fullerton man neatly faked out his own goalie and fired past him past, nearly giving the Fullerton coach apoplexy. The second half was a different story, as the Caltech first STRING scored four goals while holding their hand-shotting opponents to six, winding up with a 27-6 score.

JULIE ANDREWS says:

"Verily, a Professor 'Iggins among magazines!"

Q. Miss Andrews, had you ever been away from your family before you arrived in this country two years ago?
A. Never, and I still become dreadfully homesick. But I do talk with them several times a week.

Q. By phone?
A. No—by phonograph. We talk into recording machines, and air mail the records. They are so clear I can even hear my brothers arguing in the background about whose turn it is. As if we were all in one room.

Q. You never exchange the usual kind of letter?
A. Very seldom, I'm afraid. But we post cards to each other regularlly.

Q. Do you still read it on the run?
A. Oh, yes—waiting for assignments, waiting for buses, even waiting for certain cues. I hope I never have to be without it. When I wish to be amused, the Digest amuses me; and when I need to be unclouded or instructed, I can always find an article that talks to me like—

Q. Like a Dutch uncle?
A. No, much more delighted—more like Professor 'Iggins in "My Fair Lady" showing a new world to Eliza Doolittle.

In November Reader's Digest don't miss:

CONCENTRATION FROM FORTHCOMING BOOK: "THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY." Heart-rending drama of Dr. Peterson's futile 5-hour struggle to save his wife—planted under a wreckage in the skies—by the giant liner slowly sank.

ARE YOU A BOSS? J. A. R. Wyle shows how we unwittingly bore others, and how to make yourself more interesting. Why There Cannot Be Another War. Pulitzer Prize-winner William L. Fabulous fairyland fills fellows with glee as girls go ga-ga; too bad it has to be razed

After a week of frantic sawing, nailing, and pasting, the wonder workers at Caltech did it again, and last Saturday night presented their dates with a fairyland of fabulous decorations — the Interfraternity dance of 1956.

Entering the bodies from the east, the first stop was Blacker, where one ascended the spiral steps of a bazaar into the land above the clouds, gazing with awe at a towering giant menacingly overlooking a landscape of snowy white, surrounded by skies of blue.

Moving north to Ricketts then, the scene turned Arabian as one plunged into the darkness of Ali Baba’s den and past its glittering treasures of jewels and gold. At the exit of the cave shone Aladdin’s magic lamp with an imposing genie issuing from it, reaching to the roof, and calmly ignoring the evil monster spitting fire at it.

Over in Throop Club, after peering through the time machine and to the year 3056, a vast panorama of twinkling stars met the eyes, shining down a vast panorama of twinkling stars met the eyes, shining down

Looking an eerie astronomical landscape. Back to Fleming, then, and to Venice, with its sidewalk cafe, serene canals, and gondolas. In the background loomed St. Mark’s Cathedral, with its great clock and shining golden figures. Inside, gay couples were dancing to the Venetian music.

Reluctantly leaving Venice, one passed a smartly satiating toy soldier, and into Danby’s Toyland. In the courtyard a merry-go-round whirled merrily, and pink lemonade cascaded down the sides of a large mountain into a pool beneath. Inside, the lounge beneath hundreds of multicolored balloons, a toy chemistry set bubbled punch.

Venetian canal flows through Fleming’s courtyard.

Football rally to pep team tonight
Tonight at nine the annual Occidental football rally will be held on our baseball diamond. This event will start with a spontaneous planned riot tearing through the student houses and drawing the spirited student body onto the field.

A beneficial, weather permitting, will highlight the affair. Tigers will be buried in effigy. Special speakers will be coaches Bert Lotbrucher and Al Learned. The Caltech song queens will entertain with their routine, and the cheerleaders, aided by the band, will fill out the rest of the program.

The riot will get underway about 8:45, so be ready when the mob begins flowing up and down your alley. This is the biggest football rally of the year! The cheerleaders and song Queens hope to create enough enthusiasm to carry a large crowd down to Occidental to see Caltech win its first league game in five years.

A lot of work and planning has gone into this rally, and the rally committee would like to see the majority of the undergrads attend both the rally and the game. The team has really drawn on the walking clothes for this week’s practice, so they should be up for this game.
