Fun For--Tech Reporter Tells About International Association

By Drusie Marshall

What would you do if you went to study in a foreign country? How would you meet interesting people? How would you get involved in any sort of social life? Now, for the first time, these questions can be answered.

Here on campus the International Association does a great service for both foreign and American students. The I.A. is a meeting place for people of all nationalities, and is meant to bring nationalities a better understanding of each other.

The great thing about this organization is that it promotes a friendly, informal attitude in getting the members together. Many do not visit the I.A. go out and have a good time at social functions and the I.A. gets into the mix.

About three times a year there is a big dance with orchestra, and every once in a while there are record dances and twice a term there are conferences and discussions. The discussions have covered a wide variety of topics, such as music, countries, customs, languages, and international affairs. Many others.Picnics, outings and fellowships are not uncommon. The foreign students have been active in the I.A. and have opened their homes to them every so often.

At present most of the members are grad students and about one third are from Canada. Membership, though, is open to undergraduates and graduate students. Again, there are girls in the organization, and they help make the group social functionally.

Every day, there is an informal tea over in B2 that starts at 3. After this, members sometimes go out for supper or make a theater party of it.

Accomplishments

Besides social functions, the I.A. has put out a survey of interesting things. One of their most recent surveys, which was sent out to all international students, was a questionnaire to the Panorama Rotary Club for their financial aid. Besides the Rotary Club taking an interest in the I.A., the California Women's Association helps out.

Membership is open to both foreign and American students who are interested in the organization.

POOR FIELDING Spikers Drop AID-Ox Win SC Tourney

Last Sunday evening the Oxy Spikers dropped the last game of a season long streak of victories by the Caltech held for USC. These last two games were part of the Caltech's collegiate volleyball team, which entered the first annual Southern California Tourney.

Although the team has been in existence less than a year, they have made a good showing. SC last year was the only other team to win championships, the tournament.

Our team has entered several tournaments so far this year and has more than its share of experience. Those who represent Caltech at four Saturday meets were Jared Abell, Phil Davis, Charles Henthorne, Allan Bayne, and Smidt. Although the team has its share of experience, the first team is always improving.
